

Insurance focussed opportunities

Broker – London Markets

About Price Forbes

Our London Markets insurance business operates through the long-established and highly regarded brand, Price Forbes & Partners. An independent specialist global wholesale insurance broker with offices in London, Bermuda, Chile, Dubai, and South Africa, Price Forbes is focussed on aligning the best markets, people, and products to achieve the right solution for clients.

About the role

As a graduate broker within Price Forbes, your role will be to assist members of your team in a trainee broking capacity, and to work on allocated tasks and projects as directed by management in order to facilitate the business operations of the company.

Key role accountabilities:

- Learn about the London insurance market and international insurance markets to gain a deeper understanding about insurance.
- Support the team by placing uncomplicated risks and endorsements.
- Shadow broking team members when placing business into the Lloyd's, London and international markets.
- Become an effective team member and collaborate well with peers in both the London and global offices.
- Learn about the data and analytics produced within the team, with the aim to be able to analyse the data to inform broking decisions.
- Gain an understanding of facility creation and the use of it.
- Gain an understanding of the claims process.
- Study towards the CII (Chartered Insurance Institute) Certificate.
